A Little Note Before You Dive In

Congratulations on snagging a spot in an Albany Summer School course — excellent choice. We're thrilled to have you on board.
Now's the perfect time to start gathering your materials. Some items may need to be ordered in, and freight is still doing that fashionably late thing, so don't leave it to the eleventh hour. We'd hate for you to miss out on something that helps make your course a success.

In early December, we'll email you details on the most convenient parking options to make getting to your class easy.
